INTRODUCTION

“THE ESSENCE OF THE FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES OF LAW IS EQUALITY BEFORE THE LAW, THE RIGHT TO COUNSEL AND THE RIGHT TO FAIR TRIAL. THIS IS ACHIEVED THROUGH ACCESS TO LEGAL AID FOR ALL”

‘Legal Aid’ encompasses a broad range of activities that aim at social advancement by creatively utilizing the instrument of Law. Legal profession, the way it is currently practiced and organized, is primarily concerned with the improvement of the quality of legal services rather than ensuring equitable and even distribution of legal services. That is where the concept of Legal Aid finds its relevance—it strives to make law relevant to the masses that are somehow left out and exist below the visibility line of law in action.

At the Legal Aid Society of Campus Law Centre, University of Delhi (LAS) we want to provide legal aid to those who cannot afford professional legal services and we want to champion those public causes for which support is lacking. For this we have divided the functional areas of LAS into various groups like- Environmental protection, consumer protection, prison reforms, gender sensitization, victims of armed struggle, dramatics, slums, disabled/senior citizen, juvenile justice & child rights, mediation, right to information etc.

LAS has always been a pillar of support for those who require legal assistance. The progress we have achieved in this arena was the result of great work by the law students, the teachers and lawyers who were inspired by the legal aid ideals. Our cherished objectives include work on all the fronts of legal process, i.e. awareness, encouragement and enforcement of law.

VISION

As Robert Ingersoll has rightly said “The hands that help are better far than lips that pray.” The LAS, with a vision to extend legal aid or support in all manners needed, is dedicated to promoting an inclusive legal system by organizing various activities and programmes pertaining to public. The far-reaching goal of these activities is to extend legal help to the marginalized, disadvantaged, and indigent sections of the society.

LAS focus to accelerate the process of providing a platform to spread consciousness about the requirement of legal aid by the indigent litigants. This process involves engaging the student volunteers in organizing of various legal awareness drives, legal aid camps, campaigns, seminars, etc. Also, through these activities the society intends to make the residents of Delhi aware about their legal rights and duties.

The society in order to achieve the goal of establishment of an inclusive legal system facilitates the working of the LSC which functions under the aegis of Delhi State Legal Services Authority (‘DSLISA’). The function of LSC is to impart legal aid to the indigent litigants in the procedure of court proceedings and in any additional process for the same. The volunteers of LAS also assist the lawyer and the litigants during the meetings in the LSC.

One such community which is capable of bringing a change in the society is the student community. Therefore, the society is devoted in grooming the student members of the society to become responsible legal practitioners or officers that will be acquainted with the ground realities of the country and will work towards the upliftment of the disadvantaged sections of society by imparting all kind of legal services required by them.

We are open to ideas, and we believe that we can learn from the experience of those who are engaged in similar activities. For that we are keen to enter into collaborations with NGOs and governmental organizations. Our key strength, in this regard, is a large body of students who are talented and equally committed.

We do have a dream, a dream to create a society where none is deprived of legal rights.

LEGAL SERVICES CLINIC

The Legal Services Clinic ('LSC') of Campus Law Centre, University of Delhi was inaugurated on the 27th of September 2014 by Hon'ble Mr. Justice A.K. Sikri (an eminent jurist and former judge of the Supreme Court of India). The activities of the clinic are aimed at organising legal awareness programmes and to facilitate accessibility of legal relief to backward sections of the society in consonance with the provisions of the Legal Services Authorities Act 1987 (LSA Act). The sole objective of the clinic is to bridge the gap that exists between what the law promises to offer and the harsh realities of the legal world. It is medium for the students to avail the opportunity of not only applying their legal aptitude and judicial mind but also exposes them to the practicalities of the profession.

The LSC works in a close collaboration with DSLSA and is opened regularly on every Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. A Legal Aid Counsel, appointed by the DSLSA, visits the clinic. There are always at least two PLVs available to assist the Counsel. This academic session, LSC is not functioning physically since the onset of Covid-19 pandemic in March 2020.

AWAAZ-THE BLOG

Literature has the power to mould thought, influence people, and affect change. Recognising the importance of the written word, Legal Aid Society of Campus Law Centre in 2019 launched a blog called “Awaaz” to aid the society achieves its goals of making the law accessible to all persons. 'Awaaz' aims at providing the students with an opportunity to explore the legal arena and shape discussions relating to paramount and critical issues pertaining to legal aid. Awaaz intends to fulfil two purposes; it aims to provide a space to young writers to present novel insights to emerging fields of law and legal aid and simultaneously aims to create a learning platform for all the law students.

Law students are limited in their knowledge and experiences given the range of issues that concern those accessing legal aid. Awaaz seeks to be the platform that bridges the gap between the theoretical imagination of a legal issue and its practical implications on ground.

Awaaz exists as the knowledge centre of the Legal Aid Society where students can learn about various relevant and vital legal issues. As a result of this, the platform limits its selection process to accept only topics related to legal aid and other socio-political and legal concerns. The blog is dedicated to presenting itself as a primary source of information for all students, para-legal volunteers, and lawyers interested in learning about emerging and pertinent questions in the field of legal aid.

Awaaz was inaugurated by the Professor-in-Charge of Campus Law Centre, Dr. (Prof) Usha Tandon on 7th November 2019, which was the final day of Para-legal Volunteer training organised for selected students of Campus Law Centre by Delhi State Legal Services Authority. The blog invited submissions in the beginning of the year and since then it has received more than 150 submissions from various law colleges around the country. The topics on which submissions were received ranged from diverse themes including gender, politics, economics, sports, cyber laws, labour laws, criminal law, corporate law and various socio-legal issues like same-sex marriage, marital rape as a form of crime, adultery, mental health care in India, and the interaction of COVID-19 lockdown with the courts, and politico-legal issues like abrogation of Article 370 of the Indian Constitution, communalization of COVID-19.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH PROGRAMMES AND AWARENESS DRIVES

Introduction: The LAS in association with DLSA organizes various kinds of Community Outreach programmes which are also called Legal Awareness Drives. These are majorly conducted in the slums, jhuggi jhopris and various unorganized settlements of Delhi. The volunteers contribute minimum of 2 hours in every drive which extends to 3.5 hours depending upon the prescribed area to be covered.

Objective: The major objective of a drive is to spread legal literacy and awareness about free legal services. The awareness drives come across as a fresh insight into relevant legal issues and problems faced by the public. Through these drives the students are made to look into ground realities of various social problems of the people.

Approach: Prior to the on-site visits, the volunteers are briefed about the purpose of the drive and are acquainted with the basic information and all the precautionary measures to be taken. Prior police intimation of conducting the drive in the concerned area is mandatory to ensure safety and security of the volunteers during the programme.

On the day, the volunteers go from door-to-door creating awareness about the legal aid services provided by DSLSA for the various sections of the society. The people in the neighborhoods are informed when and where they can avail these services and are explained the procedure in the simplest way as possible. The volunteers make sure that they interact with the people in vernacular in the friendliest way so as to not intimidate them in any manner. The information regarding the LSC of Campus Law Centre which operates on every Saturday is also brought to their knowledge. The volunteers are required to fill-in a response sheet wherein they write the details of the persons in the need of free legal services and ask them to come to the Legal Services Clinic or to approach the concerned DLSA. The volunteers distribute the address of the Legal Service Clinic and as well as of the concerned DLSA office.

Role of Intellectual Property in Growing Your Business

In today's world driven by innovation, creativity, and technology, IP is an important asset for any business. It can help you and your business in more than one way. There are numerous benefits of IPRs. Some of them are:

- Stops your competitors from copying your innovations and ideas so that you can gain higher market share or higher profit margin.
- Investors, especially venture capitalists, want to know that your technology and competitive advantage is protected by patents. So, getting patents can help you attract money from outside investors to grow your business.
- Patents can improve a company's reputation and product image.
- When collaborating with other companies, patents and copyrights can help protect your innovations and ideas that you developed outside of the collaboration.
- Gives you the right to take legal action against anyone who makes unauthorized use of your intellectual property by stopping the unauthorized use by others and/or by allowing you to seek damages.
- Allows you to monetize your IP and earn revenue by transacting it through an assignment/license.

"Polluter Pays Principle (PPP) and Precautionary Principle (PP) are two major principles of Private International Law and Environmental Law. PPP is concerned with repairing Ecological Damage. It favours a curative approach, wherein the polluting party pays for the damage caused to the natural environment. PP fosters Sustainable Development. These principles were pivotal in the evolution of the Right to a Pollution Free Environment."

"Climate literacy is indeed an important aspect of awareness that should be imparted to people."

For instance, switching off the vehicle engine if you are stopping somewhere for more than 10 seconds, be it traffic or taking something from any shop, etc. is more efficient. Thinking that restraining the engine will consume more fuel so better let it be on for that duration is a misconception. If the traffic lights are showing considerable time to get a green signal, it is better to turn off the vehicle."

"On the Odisha coast, after sunset, Olive Ridley turtles come to the sea coast. When the turtles see lights coming from the cities which is the light pollution due to improper use of LEDs and other lights, they believe it to be sunrise and start moving towards the city. The next morning when the sun rises coast becomes too hot for turtles to return to the sea, as a result, numerous turtles die due to the heat."

The solution lies in using LEDs and other lights in a planned manner so that they don't lose their environment-friendly nature by being a contributor to light pollution."

THE ROAD AHEAD

- 1) The society plans to resume the community outreach program and conduct extensive follow-ups in the on-going and future cases of LSC.
- 2) In the academic session 2022-2023, the society has a vision to focus on providing legal assistance and bridging a gap of access to legal aid which has been created due to the ongoing pandemic situation. The society will also focus on research on various issues which have arisen related to legal aid during the last academic year and the changes in socio-political aspects of the society affecting access to legal aid during and after Covid- 19 pandemic. This vision will broadly be achieved through the following projects:

- a) Launch of Domestic Violence Handbook- Violence against women during Covid-19 was declared as “Shadow Pandemic” by UN Women organization. The society has worked on Domestic Violence (DV) Handbook during the academic session 2020-21. The launch of the handbook was put on hold due to the pandemic situation during April-June 2021 in Delhi. The society will make efforts to launch DV handbook in collaboration with DSLSA during the academic year 2022-23.
- b) Digital Literacy Project- The field of digital rights is nascent and growing. At this juncture in legal history, we believe that creating this Project will provide the platform to have important discussions on digital rights amongst students, scholars, and practitioners. Working towards our goal of access to justice for all, this Project will be a step in that direction and a dive into the development of the right.
- c) Collaboration- The society plans to collaborate with legal aid cells of other law schools, DSLSA and various other organizations to collectively work for our goal of access to justice for all. With such collaborative effort, the society would be able to provide legal aid and assistance effectively and reach out to a larger number of people in need of legal aid.

The society shall always strive towards its vision and innovate to create legal awareness and provide legal assistance.
